A sustainable alternative to plastic play and learning resources.

Forests for the future

Our UK-grown wood products are sourced from a sustainably-managed woodland, helping to maintain the balance between ecological, economic and sociocultural factors and supporting the viability of UK woodlands in the future. Buying UK wood also benefits local livelihoods, biodiversity and ecosystems, and supports recreational opportunities that support health and wellbeing.

Hand-harvesting

Our UK-grown wood products are hand-harvested. When trees are removed it allows light to penetrate to the woodland floor, enabling new growth and encouraging diversity in the woodland flora and fauna. Hand-harvesting by skilled craftspeople as part of a sustainable management plan allows wood to be extracted sympathetically with minimum disturbance to the natural environment.

Carbon Footprint

As our UK-grown wood grows it traps atmospheric carbon and produces oxygen; once cut it travels a relatively short distance to be processed in our workshop. In contrast, consider a plastic item travelling from far overseas, and the resources, including fossil fuels, that were used to make it.

Biodegradable

Natural untreated wood is fully biodegradable and, with a little help from some fungi, it will decompose, adding nutrients to the ground when it has reached the end of its useable life. Our UK-grown wood products are not treated with any chemicals and are safe to be left to degrade naturally at the end of their lifespan. How about making insect habitats from them?

Nature connection

Connecting to nature from an early age helps instil a deep, sometimes intuitive, sense of our place within the natural world, that leads to a love and respect for our environment. To play and learn with wood is a full sensory experience. The unique character of each piece can be explored, with its bends, knots, flaky bark, different colours, textures and smells.

Reducing environmental impact day-to-day at Muddy Faces

As an organisation we try to embody our values through our business practices. We are a family-friendly, flexible employer. Our own products are packaged in non-bleached calico and paper bags. We also send a card (on recycled paper) to explain that any plastic in parcels we send is being reused from our suppliers.

It may not look neat but it goes down a treat that Muddy Faces recycle their packaging

Environmentally-responsible packaging

- Plastic bags → biodegradable, paper and cloth bags
- Bubble wrap → cardboard wrap and shredded card
- Boxes → reusing packaging and new cardboard
- Plastic tape → paper tape

Catalogue 2022

This year we have reduced the amount of paper in our catalogue by 60%. The catalogue is printed on PEFC paper from sustainably managed sources and is fully recyclable. PEFC UK is part of the global network for the assessment and mutual recognition of national forest certification schemes developed by the PEFC Council (Programme for the Endorsement of Forest Certification).

The future

Plastic is undeniably a massive part of our modern lives and we do have plastic products in our shop. But we are actively working to source effective alternatives to plastic with an ever-increasing range of bio plastic, wood and UK-grown wood ranges, and recycled clothing and other products, offering realistic affordable alternatives to plastic.

Through the choices we make as a supplier and you make as the end user, we can start to shift the balance of how learning resources are produced and packaged, supporting a more sustainable future.

At Muddy Faces we always advocate quality, waterproof clothing to support sustained outdoor play and learning. Visit our hub for ideas and information on dressing for the outdoors.

Muddy Faces tip:

Invest your budget in quality trousers or dungarees, as these are worn whether it's raining or not. Jackets however, are taken on and off depending on the weather and get less use.

WATERPROOF CLOTHING

Effective clothing is the most important piece of outdoor equipment to enable sustained play outside. The only thing that can equal it, in importance, is the adult supervisors' and setting's attitude. Even with the smallest outdoor space, with the support of enthusiastic and supportive adults and effective clothing, children can access the outdoors for sustained periods. They become involved in fascinating play and have the opportunity to connect to nature in a deep level learning experience.

Since 2006, Muddy Faces has been supporting a diverse range of education and play settings to choose the right clothing for their children and staff. Our range of clothing has developed through the feedback and experiences of our customers. Our lightweight range is the most robust and waterproof that we can source for a lower budget. We do not recommend our lightweight ranges for more robust activities such as forest school.

Look after your waterproofs and they will look after you!

It is essential to look after outdoor clothing in the correct manner to help it retain its waterproof level. Every wash reduces the lifespan of the clothing. To find out more, look at our individual brand "Care and sizing guides" on-line.

Free downloads are available on our website to help you dress for the outdoors including explaining layering and a practitioners guide.

HOW WATERPROOF IS THE CLOTHING?

-  2000-3000mm For fabric to be considered waterproof, it must resist the pressure of a column of water 2000mm tall. The level of resistance is called the hydrostatic head. The higher the hydrostatic head, the more waterproof the material. This is explained in more detail on our website.
-  4000-6000mm
-  7000-9000mm
-  10,000-12,000mm We have added a waterproof rating symbol to our waterproof clothing; 4 drops is extremely waterproof down to 1 drop which is water resistant.

CHOOSING WHICH CLAY TO USE

Air drying clay has fibres in it to give it rigidity when it dries, use this type of clay for things you want to take home/keep indoors. If you plan to leave your clay outdoors, work within a mud kitchen or stick clay faces to trees etc then we recommend our natural school buff clay to avoid man made fibres getting into the natural environment. Please note that it's kiln clay and will be very brittle when it dries out naturally.

In the spring frogs appeared in our garden, heading to the pond to mate. We used a frog life cycle to help us explore the developmental stages. The large bag of natural clay stored in our mud kitchen was put to good use, as we started to create our own life cycle out of clay.

The most fun was had when rolling lots and lots of little balls for the frogspawn and pushing a felt tip lid into each one. Once you have made your clay frog, it is imperative you take it to explore around your garden.

Don't forget, the thing clay frogs like best is a little push on the swing. Keep an eye out for clay frog-eating birds high up in the branches!

BiOplastic

Made from sugarcane

The "I'm Green" symbol may only be used after the amount of sustainable raw materials contained in the product has been verified. Traditional PE is primarily made of crude oil, where as "I'm Green" PE (bioplastic) is made from at least 90% sugarcane (ethanol).

Dantoy bioplastic are quality products with a long service life and they are not manufactured to be biodegradable. If they were readily biodegradable, they would not be durable.

Loose parts are open ended with many play possibilities. They are used to explore, question and experience, providing children with the resources required to follow their own interests in playful, innovative and creative ways. Artificial play space often can be devoid of open ended resources for children to move and manipulate. These spaces can be improved by adding loose parts provision.

Take a look at the loose parts tool kit on www.inspiringScotland.org.uk

Most loose parts can be sourced for little or no money. All it takes is the time to find the people or companies who can donate items to you. Aim for a wide variety of objects in abundance that you can add to.

 This will be delivered on a pallet to the roadside at your address. It is then your responsibility to move the item from the roadside to where you require it.

 This large collection of resources will be delivered on a pallet. It offers a huge range of opportunities for developing physicality, problem solving, communication and STEM, all which can be experienced in a real and very physical situation with an element of controlled risk. This large set consists of over 120 chunky pieces of different sized log bases, stepping logs, planks and balance poles, all made from UK grown wood. We have also added a couple of chunky ropes. Why not set a project: what is it? how do we get across? and see where it leads. Soon the children could be working together to cross the yard or alien swamp. This provides for plenty of opportunities to build resilience when their ideas may not succeed the first time.

DRAGONS SNEEZE FIRE STEEL AND STRIKER

What prompted the design of the Dragons Sneeze?

I had been chatting to a lady with osteoporosis who had struggled to hold a standard fire flint, and this got me thinking. So I designed a system that created two chunky handles that were easy to hold. As Muddy Faces is based in Sheffield, it was ideal for sourcing a fantastic, quality hardened-steel blade for the striker. I sent her my prototype and she said she found it worked really well and was easy to use. I thought if it helped her, surely, it would be useful for others. I certainly hadn't expected how well received it would be.

How did you come up with the name?

We ran a competition asking our customers for suggestions to name our new, innovative designed fire steel and striker. Four people suggested the Dragons Sneeze. We thought the action of a sneeze as quick, powerful and sometimes surprising, was just like the spark created when you strike our steel, and we liked the name! So it was decided and we sent the competition winner a Dragons Sneeze plus some other bits to get their fire started.

Who is the Sneeze for?

I think it's really handy for all practitioners to have at least one Dragons Sneeze in their kit. It offers an alternative action to the traditional fire flints and it seems that most people can master it easily, allowing success for each individual in a group.

"The dragons sneeze is still going strong, in fact it's the only fire steel anyone wants to use in my sessions!"

"I run Forest School sessions for adults with ASD & Learning Disabilities. Lighting fires is an activity which my learners find very rewarding but unfortunately some of the people who attend struggled to use fire steels. Muddy Faces advised me to try their "Dragons Sneeze" fire steels which are more suitable for people who find fine motor tasks difficult. They're brilliant! Learners who previously couldn't light fires can now enjoy doing so. Muddy Faces practical advice and knowledge of how to make accommodations to ensure inclusive practice have definitely helped me to improve my sessions."

The Dragons Sneeze was designed and developed by Liz Edwards at Muddy Faces.

The fire steels are made from a premium quality ferrous rod manufactured in Europe and the fire striker has a hardened steel blade made in the UK. Both steel and striker have chunky ergonomic wooden handles making them easier to use, the handles are turned in the UK.

They are attached by a brightly coloured lanyard to help locate the flint in a natural setting. The lanyard gives a greater range of movement than conventional fire steel systems.

HAPA ZOME LEAF DYE

A fun, simple but very effective natural colour extraction technique with the added attraction of bashing things with hammers, making it appeal to all genders, ages and abilities. The now widely used term 'Hapa Zome' was developed by India Flint, an amazing natural colour artist and author. By placing plants on a flat surface - covering in a natural material and then evenly hammering, the plant releases its colour into the material creating amazing and individual effects.

We love Hapa Zome - its physical and creative and, as long as a couple of basic rules are followed, the results are always successful.

Search Hapa Zome on our Outdoor hub to find inspiring plant bashing ideas.

PEG LOOM

The first outing of our new peg loom was at the Forest School Association Festival and it was met with such enthusiasm - people were intrigued with how it worked and others were asking where the idea had come from. The conclusion, by most, was that it is so simple yet so very clever and that the effect with un-spun sheep's wool was amazing.

The inspiration for our new peg loom came from Coralie Hopwood (John Muir Trust). She brought it back from Estonia, where she had been participating in an Erasmus-funded visit, through ARCH NET4, about managing Natural and Cultural Heritage Assets, with other natural environment professionals from Scotland. Her group spent one morning with Merike Sepp and her husband, who run a wool factory and weaving workshop on their farm on the Sõrve peninsula, Saaremaa Island, the most South Westerly point of Estonia. Merike showed the group traditional weaving techniques using peg looms and long, untreated sheep fleeces, whilst also singing traditional working songs. The experience inspired Coralie to work with Liz at Muddy Faces to try to make some portable, Forest School-ready peg looms for use in the UK with groups.

Coralie said: 'The profoundly calming experience of gradually building up a weave, whilst talking, singing and sharing with those around us, was wonderful. I thought it would translate very easily to wellbeing and creative activities out in the woods back home.'

For projects that are more advanced in their tool use, making a peg loom could be a project that could be worked on over several weeks. The loom could also be scaled up and down, and used with natural materials such as grasses or willow. For instructions on how to use a peg loom visit the Outdoor Hub.

“We believe that children need the natural world and that it looks after them. They are biologically designed to be outdoors in a nature-rich environment and therefore thrive by having everyday intimate contact with it. It provides the most generous and powerful learning environment, with great affordance for child-led learning and development.”

THE LOST WORDS
by Robert Macfarlane
and Jackie Morris

The Lost Words is a 'book of spells' that seeks to conjure back the near-lost magic and strangeness of the nature that surrounds us. Each lost word is brought back to importance through Robert Macfarlane's powerful spells. They are called 'spells' rather than poems as they are designed to be spoken (or sung!) out loud in order to summon back these words and creatures into our hearts.

SPELL SONGS

A musical companion piece to The Lost Words by Robert Macfarlane and Jackie Morris, Spell Songs gathered together eight remarkable musicians whose music engages deeply with nature, to create an inspiring new body of work. “We’ve got more than 50% of species in decline. And names, good names, well used can help us see and they help us care. We find it hard to love what we cannot give a name to. And what we do not love we will not save.”

NATURE TABLES

Nature tables have gradually been lost from our classrooms and have been replaced by posters and laminated pictures. Research has shown that exposure to the natural world and its myriad of bacteria and chemicals, is hugely beneficial both for our physical and mental wellbeing. So let's bring back the nature table to the classroom.

NATURE TABLE RESOURCES SET

An intriguing and large collection of resources to establish a nature table. The set includes: shells, pebbles, pine-cones, bamboo, wood, gemstones and wool. Minibeast, animal and leaves trail discs, 2 life cycles, replica fossils and a Today the Weather is...set. various magnifiers, a tray, pots and small and large baskets. To see a photo and for a full description of this set visit our website.
MFK4015 £329.99

You do not need to spend money setting up a nature table. Allocate a space, maybe create a sign and start welcoming those fascinating finds. If you're thinking "YUCK", challenge yourself and ask WHY? Why not have a dead spider or wasp or a sheep's jaw. By turning away a child's precious treasure, they could be missing out on a fascinating learning experience for the whole class. Nature tables are also an effective vehicle to involve home life and families.

Tips: To make it easier to maintain and clean your Nature table don't over fill. Set up solutions for less hygienic contributions. Rotate items to keep the table interesting.

The Outdoor Practitioner

is our FREE online magazine, full of articles, ideas and activities to support you to be outdoors with your groups, packed full of contributions from real-life Outdoor Practitioners and the knowledgeable Muddy Faces Team.

Read on to sample an article and a couple of activities to show what can be found in the online Outdoor Practitioner Magazines.

The full flip book magazines can be found in our ever-growing Outdoor Hub.

Contributions

The magazines are for practitioners with articles by practitioners, helping to share experiences and good practice. If you have any outdoor experiences that you would like to contribute to the magazine contact becy@muddyfaces.co.uk

Please note - these do not be adventurous. On site experiences at your setting such as overcoming barriers or how you communicate your practice with parents are massively helpful ideas for other practitioners.

Is your practice nature connection or nature contact? And does it matter?

Forest School practitioner and trainer Louise Ambrose considers

You might be wondering, what's the difference?

Let me begin with a story of a timeless wander I had this summer with my 10 month old.

We were walking the footpaths near home, talking to the sheep and tasting the first blackberries of the season. We stood in awe for a long time at a butterfly-covered buddleia, marveling at the vivid colours of the red admirals and peacocks. We wondered whether when they were caterpillars they knew what they would become, grateful for their beauty.

A dog walker hurried past, smiled at us and called "Fidget" as her dog rushed up to greet us tail wagging.

As we continued we turned our heads skywards as we heard the buzzard's familiar call, tracking their spiral path through the sky. We were standing wondering what message the aspen's leaves were sharing with the wind as two walkers marched past complete with rucksacks and poles. They nodded a quick 'hello'.

As we were thanking the mugwort for the few stems we were harvesting we heard a couple approaching, one of whom was on her phone to her grandson. They passed us not really noticing we were there.

I wondered if we might have become invisible and decided to test this notion.

We continued the homeward stretch of our journey as softly as we could. Carefully fox walking and stretching our senses out as far as possible. As we came to the edge of the village we surprised a green woodpecker on the lawn of one of the gardens. He took off, yaffling like laughter.

All the people in this story were outside in nature – we were all in contact, but not everyone was in connection.

So what is Nature Connection?

I've contemplated this for some time and mapped my thoughts. I believe that connection involves all aspects of the self; body, feelings, spirit and mind.

In contrast, nature contact may focus solely on the academic mind, in nature education for example and/or the body, as in outdoor recreation.

Rather than an 'either or' approach, I believe that nature contact and connection are on a spectrum. I visualise this as a spiral of ever expanding awareness as our self grows. Nature contact is at the centre, the beginning of that spiral and a much needed starting point for the journey.

Dr Miles Richardson and colleagues have discovered that although visiting nature once a week (contact) provides general health benefits, it is 'Nature Connectedness' that is associated with eudaemonic wellbeing (a sense that one's life has meaning and is worthwhile). Nature connection helps people to feel self-worth and find their purpose - aims also shared by the Forest School philosophy.

One of the six Forest School principles is:

Forest School takes place in a woodland or natural wooded environment to support the development of a relationship between the learner and the natural world.

The statement of 'relationship' between people and other parts of nature suggests to me that nature connection is core to this principle. A 'relationship' suggests much more than just passing through the woods like the people in the opening story.

Another of the principles says:

Forest School aims to promote the holistic development of all those involved...

As we've explored above, nature connection is an inherently holistic process, whereas nature contact usually has a focus on only one area of a person's growth. Connection promotes holistic development. Hopefully I have persuaded you that as Forest School practitioners part of our role is to facilitate connection and that just being outside isn't enough to become connected.

So how do we 'do' nature connection?

As with most things at Forest School, it starts with us. If we want to support nature connection we must be connected ourselves. We will then model practices and behaviours unconsciously as well as consciously as the threads of connection weave their way through us.

One of the challenges we face is that we live in a modern, consumeristic society which does its best to disconnect us - from nature, each other and ourselves. It can be difficult to 'do' connection when other people are looking at us funny.

We need to create a culture of connection - to nature, to each other, to ourselves. Forest School can be an opportunity to create such a container.

Mentor, storyteller, and naturalist Jon Young has spent 40 years trying to figure out why some cultures are more nature connected than others. Spending time with indigenous peoples from across the globe he has repeatedly observed connective practices which he has collated into a map of universal truths and wisdom, referred to as the 8 Shields model.

This model holds cultural elements which can be used to repair disconnected cultures. His book Coyote's Guide to Connecting with Nature provides a great overview of the model and how it can be used to create nature connective experiences for all ages.

One of the layers of the model is the Attributes of Connection, observable qualities that are expressed by a person when they are in a state of connection (see diagram below). We can use these indicators to help us recognize when we (or anyone else) is in connection.

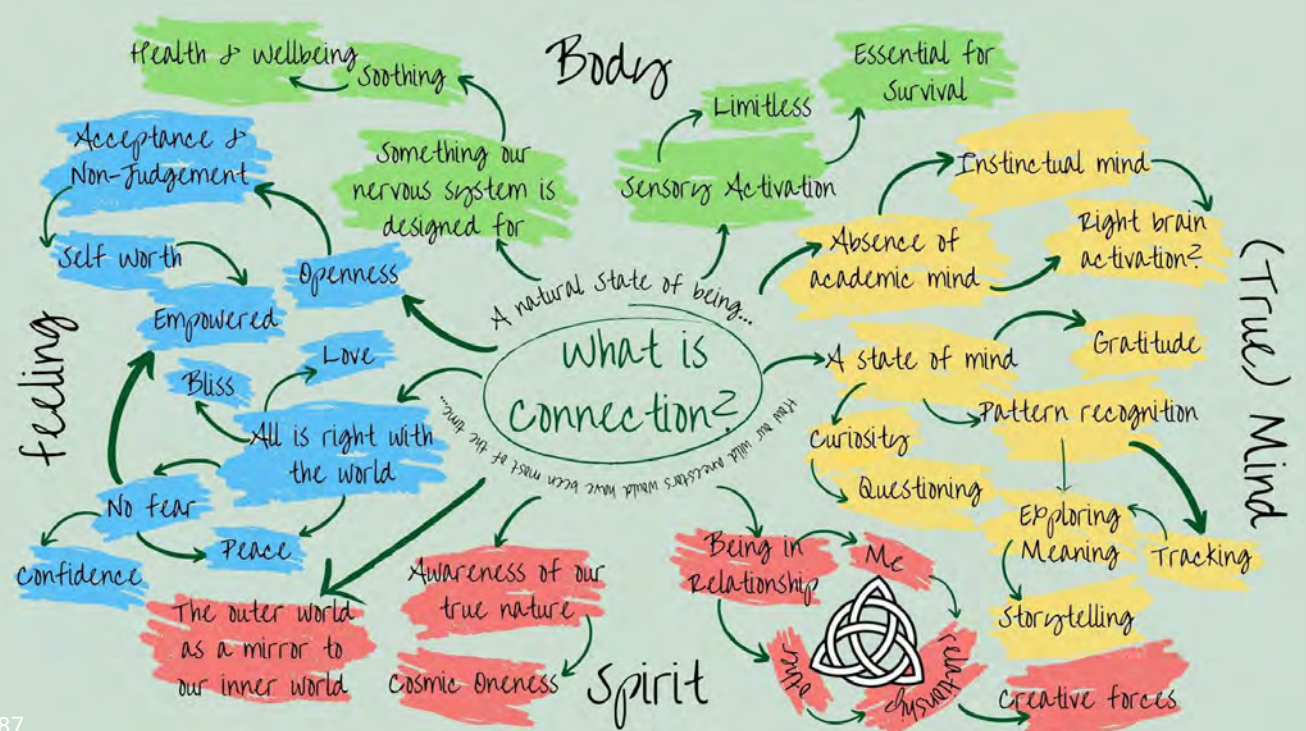

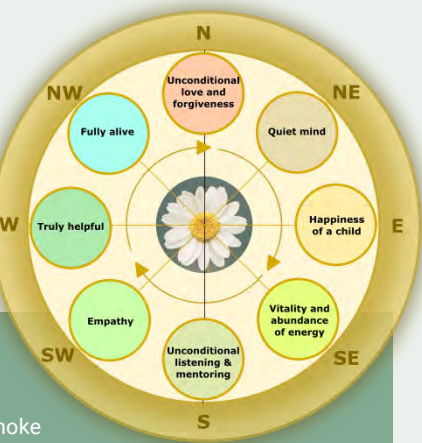

Consider these eight attributes and their significance to an individual's life. Perhaps this is why Dr Richardson found that Nature Connectedness correlated with eudaemonic wellbeing?

I invite you to reflect on your own connection with nature - how often do you exhibit any of these attributes? How often do you see them in others?

Now take a step back and imagine a culture (or a world!) filled with people expressing these qualities. Imagine growing up in such a culture. Forest School could be that culture if we expand our own spiral from nature contact to nature connection.

Campfire bread on a stick

Ingredients:

Makes approximately 10-15 small (thin sticks) or 5-10 large (thicker sticks)

- 300g (2 cups) self raising flour
- 240ml (1 cup) milk (or enough to bind into dough)
- ¼ tsp salt
- 75g (2 tbsp) butter (optional)
- 1-2 tsp sugar (optional)
- flavourings of your choice - herbs, spices, cheese etc (optional)

Special dietary needs:

- Gluten free - try a mix of 3/4 rice and 1/4 gram flour or other gluten free flour (you might need to experiment a bit and use a binder such as egg).
- Dairy free - substitute butter for plant based oil and use water instead of milk.

Preparation:

Build a fire and let it die down to embers. (see building a cooking fire in the outdoor hub)

You will need:

- a greenwood stick to wrap the dough around - tubes such as bamboo or a metal tube on the end of a wooden stick to allow the bread to bake from the inside out
- hand washing facilities
- tubs for transporting the ingredients - screw top beakers are great for this
- bowls for mixing

Step 1 - make the mix

Mix the flour, salt and sugar in a large bowl. If using butter - rub into the flour mix until it resembles a fine crumble.

Step 2 - add flavourings

Add any additional ingredients - here are a few ideas: oregano, rosemary, thyme, toasted garlic, cajun spice, garlic powder, cinnamon, nutmeg, a handful of cheese.

Step 3 - add wet ingredients

Add the liquid a little at a time and stir the mixture. Eventually it will form a soft, slightly sticky dough. Knead the dough for a short time in the bowl (if it is too sticky add a bit more flour).

The final consistency should be slightly softer than playdough.

Step 4 - wrap your stick

Tear off golf ball-sized pieces and roll into a sausage.

Squidge these onto a stick, wrapping the top back around onto itself to make it hold firm. Then twist the dough down the stick and wrap at the bottom to secure again.

Step 5 - cook

It is important that the fire has died down before starting to cook (flames will quickly blacken the outside). A medium-sized fire that has died down with plenty of hot embers is ideal. Hold the dough over the embers (not too close) and regularly turn the stick. If you want the bread to be nicely baked then patience is required. If the dough is put too close to the heat the outside browns but the inside remains doughy. Time taken to bake will be dependent on a number of factors such as the thickness of the dough, but allow around 15- 20 mins to bake.

Tip

Cooking can seem like a long time to wait for some children/groups and often they get tempted to move their bread closer to the heat to speed the process up.

If you prepare a stand that can be used to hold the bread at the correct distance above the embers, then the sticks can be left and other jobs/ activities can be done while they are cooking slowly.

It is important that at least one person stays to keep an eye on them in case the embers flare up or die down and are not emitting enough heat. Encourage the children/group to return roughly every five minutes to turn the sticks to ensure even cooking.

Eat warm with butter or make your own wild garlic butter and dip in your campfire vegetable soup. Yum Yum!

Sun print bunting

Cyanotype is a photographic printing process using the sun. Use it to create beautiful bright blue fabric bunting!

Introduction

The blue print fabric is light-sensitive, 100% cotton, treated for cyanotype. Cyanotype is a printing process that produces a cyan-blue print. Engineers used to use the process as a low-cost way to produce copies of drawings, referred to as blueprints. Two chemicals are used: ferric ammonium citrate and potassium ferricyanide.

What you'll need:

Colour changing fabric, natural materials, cardboard, pins, scissors, string/wool, water & container, protective waterproof gloves.

Preparation

You will need a bright, sunny day for this activity and somewhere to show off the finished product! Prepare some cardboard the correct size to pin your fabric pieces onto. Collect some natural materials (or have a collection to use if you don't have much on your doorstep). Look for interesting-shaped leaves and flowers. If you are doing this activity away from mains drainage you'll need water and a container to hold the used rinsing water, to be taken off site for disposal.

Environmental and health & safety considerations:

Leave no trace, dispose of water used for rinsing in mains drainage. Follow your usual operating procedures and carry out appropriate risk benefit assessments. Some considerations particular to this activity include: wear protective gloves when rinsing - chemicals used are mild irritants, using scissors and string, hand wash after activity.

Step 1 - prepare the fabric

Remove the blue print fabric from the packaging. Although it is called blue print the un-exposed fabric is green. Cut the fabric as desired for making bunting or a picture. We cut some triangular bunting pieces and used the off-cuts for mini-bunting - waste nothing! NB: Exposure to indoor daylight/incandescent light will not affect the fabric so you have time to prepare indoors or in a shaded area. Fluorescent light and sunlight will affect the fabric.

Step 2 - create your image

Pin your fabric pieces onto the cardboard. Place your objects on top of the fabric and play around with your positioning and arrangements. Tip: Flat natural materials will give a much crisper print; non-flat materials will leave a more delicate shadow effect. Tip: Use pins to hold objects down. Push the pin right through the card to avoid a pin shadow print. We also experimented with a 'tie dye' style wrap-up!

Step 3 - expose the fabric

Expose the fabric to direct sunlight. The process takes 5-10 minutes on a sunny day (we left ours out for 10 minutes), and 15-30 minutes on a cooler/less bright days. The fabric will change from the original green to a grey-green colour.

Step 4 - remove from sunlight

Remove the objects from the fabric. From now on keep the fabric out of direct sunlight.

Step 5 - stop the process

Wearing protective gloves, rinse the fabric under a tap until the water runs clear, or rinse it in a container (you will notice the water changing to a slight green colour). Dispose of the rinsing water into a mains drain.

Step 6 - drying

Dry the fabric flat, out of direct sunlight. The images will sharpen during drying time.

Step 7 - make the bunting

Attach your bunting to string - we used a hole punch then threaded wool through to hold it all together. Now you can show off your beautiful bunting!

Take it further:

- have a go at tie dye
- use a large piece of fabric and get creative on a grander scale
- have a go at sun printing on paper
