MUDDYFACES

MUDDYFACES UK-GROWN WOOD

A sustainable alternative to plastic play and learning resources.

Forests for the future

Our UK-grown wood products are sourced from a sustainably-managed woodland, helping to maintain the balance between ecological, economic and sociocultural factors and supporting the viability of UK woodlands in the future. Buying UK wood also benefits local livelihoods, biodiversity and ecosystems, and supports recreational opportunities that support health and wellbeing.

Hand-harvesting

Our UK-grown wood products are hand-harvested. When trees are removed it allows light to penetrate to the woodland floor, enabling new growth and encouraging diversity in the woodland flora and fauna. Hand-harvesting by skilled craftspeople as part of a sustainable management plan allows wood to be extracted sympathetically with minimum disturbance to the natural environment.

Carbon Footprint

As our UK-grown wood grows it traps atmospheric carbon and produces oxygen; once cut it travels a relatively short distance to be processed in our workshop. In contrast, consider a plastic item travelling from far overseas, and the resources, including fossil fuels, that were used to make it.

Biodegradable

Natural untreated wood is fully biodegradable and, with a little help from some fungi, it will decompose, adding nutrients to the ground when it has reached the end of its useable life. Our UK-grown wood products are not treated with any chemicals and are safe to be left to degrade naturally at the end of their lifespan. How about making insect habitats from them?

Nature connection

Connecting to nature from an early age helps instil a deep, sometimes intuitive, sense of our place within the natural world, that leads to a love and respect for our environment. To play and learn with wood is a full sensory experience. The unique character of each piece can be explored, with its bends, knots, flaky bark, different colours, textures and smells.

Mud

Inspiration for bringing mud and messy play into your setting.

Muddy Faces have been working with Pete Moorhouse to bring you a Woodworking Special with lots of ideas and tips. Pete is the UK's leading authority on woodworking in the Early Years and is passionate about encouraging creativity in education.

“There is something really special about woodwork. It is so different from other activities. The smell and feel of wood, using real tools, working with a natural material, the sounds of hammering and sawing, hands, minds and hearts working together to express their imagination and to solve problems, the use of strength and coordination: all go together to captivate young children’s interest.”

Woodwork CPD online course with Pete Moorhouse

Introducing woodwork in early childhood education

This in-depth, 8-module course provides everything you need to safely bring woodworking into early childhood settings.

A set of recorded videos and a comprehensive collection of handouts and course notes allows you to complete your CPD at a time and place that works for you.

“This masterclass course draws on over 20 years experience of providing woodwork to young children. It draws upon extensive international research in many countries including Japan, New Zealand, Sweden, Finland, Denmark and USA, and my research on the Big Bang research project at Bristol University – evaluating the impact of woodwork on children’s learning and development.”

Woodwork & safety

- Safety glasses should be worn at all times
- Ensure all children are given proper instruction on the correct use of all tools
- A good sturdy workbench with a vice is essential
- Sawing should be monitored 1:1
- Check wood for splinters
- Ensure all nails and screws are picked up from the floor afterwards – a large magnet can work a treat for this – and there will be no shortage of volunteers to use it!

Safe practice tips

Aim to embed this practice right from day one.

- Wear eye protection at all times to eliminate risk of eye injury. Children find glasses more comfortable than chunky goggles.
- Ensure children are given instruction on the correct use of all tools. Take time to discuss together and draw attention to hazards. Children need to understand why H&S measures are put in place.
- When sawing, clamp the wood in a vice. The practitioner then checks that the vice is clamped tight before sawing.

"The benefits of woodwork for children's learning and development are immense across all areas of learning and children show the most extraordinary levels of concentration and engagement for sustained periods of time."

- Pete Moorhouse

Understanding where wood comes from, seeing the beauty of wood & learning how long trees take to grow can develop respect for the value of wood & the need for us to take responsibility for our shared environment. Planting trees with children can further support this.

As children gain confidence, woodwork can become continuous provision or be made available to larger groups at specific times. Continuous provision gives children more choice and autonomy, but only works well if you have an abundance of resources.

Active boundaries

Use our Active Boundaries resources to create unique spaces in your outdoor environment. Fences, gates, stiles, tunnels & bridges provide enriching experiences and physical challenges for children to travel Over, Under & Through.

Visit our Outdoor Hub to delve into the pedagogy underpinning our work on Active Boundaries.

We've had amazing feedback since we launched our unique Active Boundaries range last year. We collaborated with some settings who shared their experiences of outdoor play using our Active Boundaries resources. A big thank you to St Patrick's Family Learning Centre and Blossom Years for their generosity and time.

St Patrick's Family Learning Centre, N Lanarkshire

"We constantly strive to improve our outdoor environment to keep it stimulating and interesting for the children and the active boundaries resources seemed to fit the bill perfectly as they can be moved, interchanged with other resources, and also invite ideas and suggestions from the children as to how to use them."

Blossom Years Nursery, Chislehurst

"The equipment is great for demonstrating positional language, the children like to show me how they can "squeeze" through fence spaces and "crawl under" the ladder. The children also like to 'decorate' the fences, and hang things off the posts."

We've noticed the children are...

- confidently problem solving
- quieter children are becoming more involved in group play
- becoming more aware of what their bodies can do
- much more resilient if they fall or trip."

STILES AND BRIDGES

Stiles and bridges appeal to children's innate urge to climb and elevate themselves off the ground even when it is a challenge, perhaps because it is a challenge. Vertical exploration needs coordination, balance, strength & bravery. It can take repeated attempts and determination to master the skills needed to scale an obstacle.

There are multiple rewards – an elevated view to survey the site and experience an unfamiliar perspective, the sense of achievement from overcoming a challenge, the exhilaration of height and the anticipation of jumping down.

Designed with stability in mind, Muddy Faces Active Boundaries have a wide-base design and can be easily attached to other equipment to make them even more stable.

LADDER STILE

Straight steps going up. Height of top step 63cm, overall height 110cm. Requires physical strength and balance.

GATES

The allure of gates for children is undeniable; the simple act of passing through them, with their dynamic possibilities of swinging, opening, closing and securing can be a captivating experience.

Exploring the engineering required to make a gate work requires problem-solving, spatial-awareness, communication and turn-taking.

Beyond their functional aspects, gates are portals to new places, gateways to creative and imaginative play. This all explains why it can take children so long to pass through a doorway or gate!

Muddy Faces Active Boundaries gates are real gates, with features designed for both engagement and safety. Wide gaps around hinges, simple latches with stoppers, rounded edges & wide bases.

FOOTPATH GATE

Always popular with children, this contained swing gate requires a lot of thought and coordination to get through.

SQUEEZES AND GAPS

Both inviting and challenging, squeezes and gaps require children to bend, crawl and squirm to travel under or through. Crawling, scrambling and similar movements support bilateral physical development.

PATHS AND BOUNDARIES

We have a natural inclination to follow pathways - they offer safe passage through unfamiliar terrain. By moving, balancing along edges or encountering boundaries, children develop their cognitive skills, expanding their capacity to think about and operate in two and three dimensions. As they repeatedly travel these paths, they start to map out the entirety of their outdoor surroundings and establish their own ways through.

GIANT BALANCE COURSE -120+ chunky pieces

This large collection of resources offers a huge range of opportunities for developing physicality, problem solving, communication and STEM, all which can be experienced in a real and very physical situation with an element of controlled risk. This large set consists of over 120 chunky pieces of different sized log bases, stepping logs, planks and balance poles, all made from UK grown wood. We have also added a couple of chunky ropes. Why not set a project: what is it? how do we get across? and see where it leads. Soon the children could be working together to cross the yard or alien swamp. This provides for plenty of opportunities to build resilience when their ideas may not succeed the first time.

Making a Mud Kitchen

“Our Mud campaign has changed practice across the early years sector, and we take pride in declaring that mud play is now the norm not the exception”

As pioneers and change-makers, Muddy Faces use funds generated from our shop sales to spearhead and develop impactful projects. Our initiatives have been instrumental in driving transformative change particularly within the Early Years sector.

In 2011, Professor Jan White and Muddy Faces founding director Liz Edwards launched a Mud Play Initiative to increase the understanding, importance, value and range of experiences from mud play as continuous provision, and to support practitioners to achieve this.

Prior to this date only a few settings in the UK provided mud play or had a mud kitchen. Our Making a Mud Kitchen booklet was launched online as a free resource in 2012. Within a year it had been downloaded 20,000 times, and 17,000 printed copies were distributed free to practitioners across the UK. The response was breathtaking and the feedback so very positive. Proof of the success of the initiative is in the results: by 2017 mud kitchens had become fully mainstreamed, with a very high proportion of education settings of all types, in all UK countries, having a mud kitchen in their outdoor provision. Making a Mud Kitchen has since been translated into 12 different languages, achieving international recognition with tens of thousands of downloads made worldwide. In Portugal and Italy, major early years magazines distributed free printed copies to all their subscribers.

Making a Mud Kitchen advocates developing mud play spaces using recycled and moveable resources rather than static pieces of furniture. In response to this Muddy Faces created an exclusive Modular Mud Kitchen range that enables mud play areas to evolve and develop with children’s play. The Create Modular Mud Kitchen was chosen as Best for Open Ended Play by the Independent newspaper in their 11 Best Mud Kitchens to Encourage Your Child’s Creativity list.

We promote International Mud Day on the 29th June annually, creating free resources, running competitions and sharing practice. In 2023 Mud Champions was launched, where we seek out inspirational people who support groups to interact with natural materials, especially mud, and give them some well-earned recognition. If you have anyone you would like to nominate as a Mud Champion, please get in touch.

Inspired by the remarkable butterfly effect initiated by the Making a Mud Kitchen booklet, we embarked on a collaborative journey with Professor Jan White. Together, we crafted and freely distributed a series of booklets aimed at enhancing outdoor practice.

OUTDOORS THINKING

This work naturally evolved and Outdoors Thinking was born, a training and development organisation supporting high quality outdoor provision and practice in early childhood settings. Outdoors Thinking has an innovative and exceptionally effective approach and received a Highly Commended accolade for Trainer of the Year 2023 at the prestigious Nursery World Awards.

We often get asked how settings could have one of our shelters when they don't have enough trees to hang it from. A solution is to install posts to connect the shelter to, but sometimes this can be quite involved, and this is where Stuart from Just Grow can help you out.

Stuart travels throughout mainland UK installing outdoor shelters. Contact Stuart directly email hello@justgrowforestschool.education & check out his Facebook pages for more ideas about what he can do.

Events, training, information & research

The Forest School Association (FSA) is the professional body, and UK-wide voice, for Forest School, promoting best practice, cohesion and 'quality Forest School for all'. There are a number of affiliated and emerging FSA local groups that offer members an opportunity to network and share best practice locally.

"The relationship between the FSA and Muddy Faces goes back to the FSA's inception in 2012. We have been very fortunate to have had the support and sponsorship from Muddy Faces at all of our National Conferences. We have also benefited from the expertise of the Muddy Faces founder Liz with the production and distribution of the FSA book, Growing a Forest School from the Roots Up! Their continued support in creating clear messaging surrounding Forest School is always appreciated and we look forward to working with them through mutual support on our future events. If you would like to know more about Forest School we have a huge amount of information available on the FSA website."

CONNECTING TO NATURE

Each year Muddy Faces donates space in our catalogue and online Outdoor Hub signposting to projects and organisations that align with our own aim 'to support children and young people to experience the benefits of being active outdoors and connecting to nature'. We are all healthier and happier outside connecting to nature.

"Just being outside has wide-ranging effects on physical and mental wellbeing, and it is a very different place that provides so much for our brains, bodies, and spirits. For almost all of the long history of human evolution, children and adults spent almost all of each day outside. The result is that the neurological and physiological processes that run our brain/body systems (including the creation of feelings, emotions, and thinking) have an expectation of these conditions."

Reasons to be Outside - Professor Jan White and Liz Edwards

Through the National Education Nature Park programme, children and young people at nurseries, schools, and colleges across England lead the way in improving their outdoor spaces for both people and wildlife, contributing to real scientific research. By connecting to nature on their learning sites through a suite of curriculum-linked activities, pupils and students can get outdoors and enhance their green and digital skills by using digital tools to map out the habitats on their sites, and create new habitats through improvements including growing pollinator-friendly plants, installing ponds and building green walls to name just a few.

By nurturing children and young people's connection to nature, we can plant a seed that can grow throughout their lives, inspiring their passions and career choices and helping to preserve the environment for the generations that follow.

The National Education Nature Park has been commissioned as part of the Department for Education's Sustainability and Climate Change Strategy, and developed by a partnership led by the Natural History Museum with the Royal Horticultural Society, supported by Learning Through Landscapes, the Royal Geographical Society (with IBG), Royal Society, UK Centre for Ecology and Hydrology, the National Biodiversity Network Trust and Manchester Metropolitan University. Esri UK are providing the geospatial expertise and platform. It's free to take part and access the library of free curriculum resources. Register at www.educationnaturepark.org.uk

More than 4000 settings have already mapped out over 3 million sq.m of habitats across the country, adding to the knowledge of biodiversity in England.

By taking part in the National Education Nature Park, young people will lead the way following a five-step cycle which can be built upon year on year.

TAKE ACTION FOR THE FUTURE OF YOUNG PEOPLE AND NATURE

Go on a journey to get to know your outdoor space and use creative decision-making to improve your grounds for both people and nature:

Try out the Hidden Nature Challenge to explore your school site and uncover hidden wildlife in unexpected places! (less than 20 minutes).

Write a vision statement for your outdoor space to help learners discuss and reflect on what matters to them for the future.

Ltl is at the forefront of developing and delivering projects that connect children and young people to the natural world, with a UK-wide team of experienced outdoor educators and school grounds designers. Their vision is a society where outdoor learning and play are recognised as a fundamental part of education and every child benefits from regular time outdoors as part of their school day. This will help to enrich the curriculum for all learners, empower climate action and promote physical and mental wellbeing. Find out more at www.ltl.org.uk

NATURE TABLES

Nature tables have gradually been lost from our classrooms and have been replaced by posters and laminated pictures. Research has shown that exposure to the natural world and its myriad of bacteria and chemicals, is hugely beneficial both for our physical and mental wellbeing. So let's bring back the nature table to the classroom.

You do not need to spend money setting up a nature table. Allocate a space, maybe create a sign and start welcoming those fascinating finds. If you're thinking "YUCK", challenge yourself and ask WHY? Why not have a dead spider or wasp or a sheep's jaw. By turning away a child's precious treasure, they could be missing out on a fascinating learning experience for the whole class. Nature tables are also an effective vehicle to involve home life and families.

Tips: To make it easier to maintain and clean your Nature table don't over fill. Set up solutions for less hygienic contributions. Rotate items to keep the table interesting.

"We believe that children need the natural world and that it looks after them. They are biologically designed to be outdoors in a nature-rich environment and therefore thrive by having everyday intimate contact with it. It provides the most generous and powerful learning environment, with great affordance for child-led learning and development."

PULLEYS

Pulleys are a fantastic addition to your loose parts provision. Children can be observed spending extended periods of time working together, in tasks such as lifting toys up to a platform, where someone takes them out and the action repeated. Pulleys are an ideal way to expand opportunities for schemas such as transportation and explore the physics of simple machines.

WATERPROOF CLOTHING

Effective clothing is the most important piece of outdoor equipment to enable sustained play outside.

Since 2006, Muddy Faces has been supporting a diverse range of education and play settings to choose the right clothing for their children and staff. Our range of clothing has developed through the feedback and experiences of our customers. Our lighter weight ranges are the most robust and waterproof that we can source for a lower budget. We do not recommend our lightweight ranges for more robust activities such as forest school.

Scan a QR code to shop for clothing & footwear resources or find information about outdoor clothing on our Outdoor Hub.

HOW WATERPROOF IS THE CLOTHING?

For fabric to be considered waterproof, it must resist the pressure of a column of water 2,000mm tall. The level of resistance is called the hydrostatic head. The higher the hydrostatic head, the more waterproof the material. This is explained in more detail on our website.

We have added a waterproof rating symbol to our waterproof clothing; 4 drops is extremely waterproof down to 1 drop which is water resistant.

 2,000-3,000mm

 4,000-6,000mm

 7,000-9,000mm

 10,000-12,000mm

At Muddy Faces we always advocate quality, waterproof clothing to support sustained outdoor play and learning. Visit our hub for ideas and information on dressing for the outdoors.

Muddy Faces tip:

Invest your budget in quality trousers or dungarees, as these are worn whether it's raining or not. Jackets are taken on and off depending on the weather and get less use.
